SUPPLY CHIEF RETIRES — Henry "Heinie" Reyn, who went to work for the Woodland clinic medical group 45 years ago, begins his last week at the clinic before he starts his retirement from the post of chief of supply. Reyn was hired in 1929 by the late Dr. John D. Lawson when the clinic had only 14 doctors. Today the staff includes 54 specialists. Reyn's first job was in the supply room, but he took on the laundry operation during the Depression. Later he supervised orderlies, aides and maintenance men before returning to the supply division. A native of Woodland, Reyn is planning a trip to Hawaii in the near future. He will continue at the clinic on a part-time basis. (Staff photo)
