George's first wife is not known. Eliza is his second wife. They were second cousins hence the same surname of Large.

George and Eliza left Queens County, Ireland in 1824. They arrived in America, via the St. Lawrence River in 1825. George died 3 weeks later of cholera on a boat near Quebec, and was buried near Niagara Falls. His burial was probably in a cemetery on the Canadian side of the Falls. Eliza, his widow moved to Montreal for a short time, then to Beaver Dam. In Feb. 1828 she moved, with her three sons, to Noble County, Ohio and entered from the government an 80 acres of property. (On Kathrine Cole Knerr's hand written notes she states it to be 80 acres. When her daughter, Darla (Knerr) Yancey was researching in Ohio she found documents stating the amount granted to Eliza was 160 acres.)

While living in Montreal with her three sons, her sister kept encouraging her to leave Canada and come to live in Noble County. Her sister is the wife of Dr. Craig and they were living in Whigville, Noble County, Ohio. (According to documents in the Toledo, Ohio library the name of the town in the middle 1800's was Freedom.
