Dear Arvilla,

How's the sick girl? I wanted to come and see you again before I came home, but I left town sooner than I expected, so I didn't come. You are probably home by now, wishing you were s. t. again. I certainly hope you are getting better fast and will soon be able to write to me. You will write, won't you? Tell me all about the happenings you know of. Is William still as nice as ever? I'll bet he keeps the road hot between Moreland and Pasotello.

It seems good to be home again. Only it's hot and windy here. I have cleaned house, worked in the garden and canned cherries already. Don't you envy my ambition?

Did you find your wishinup?
I have to give a 2 1/2 minute talk in Sunday School next time. Member how I used to carry over my speeches I used to prepare part two. I got my robes yesterday. They weren't so hot, but since I didn't flunk any thing, I guess I can't kick.
You remember hearing me talk about Vivian Myers; she left for Salt Lake Monday to be married. It will be longer this summer with out her to get around with. She will live at Glenn's Ferry. But it won't be the same as if she wasn't married.

I want to see you longer, but you write to me soon and tell me all about yourself.

Lovingly yours,
Ada.
